Amend and render perpetual the Sale of Liquors on Sunday (Ireland) Act, 1878. A.D. 1894.

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

5 1. This Act may be cited as the Sale of Liquors on Sunday (Ireland) Act, 1884. Short title.

2. So much of the Sale of Liquors on Sunday (Ireland) Act, 1878, as the same is continued by the Expiring Laws Continuance Act, 1883, as enacts that the said Act should continue in force until the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, and no longer, and that on the said day certain other provisions should come into operation and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed, shall be and is hereby repealed. Perpetuation and amendment of Act of 1878.
41 & 42 Vict.
c. 72.
46 & 47 Vict.
c. 40.

The said Sale of Liquors on Sunday (Ireland) Act, 1878, is hereby rendered perpetual, subject to the amendments following; that is to say,

(1.) From and after the first day of October one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, the said Act shall apply within the Metropolitan Police District of Dublin Metropolis, and within the cities of Cork, Limerick, and Waterford, and the town of Belfast, as fully as it does in any other place in Ireland, and as if no exception with respect to the said district, cities, and town were enacted in the said Act: Provided that nothing contained in this Act shall operate to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor in pursuance of any licence in force at the time of the passing of this Act, in respect of premises situate within the said police district, or within any of the said cities, or the town of Belfast, until the expiration of the period for which such licence has been granted.

[Bill 109.]
